

Visual poem with a title that reads: BRAINFØG XII.

There are light gray blooming images on either side of a central column of text. The text is a repeated line growing more transparent with each repetition until the lines fade entirely.

The text reads:

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness

raw from the face I vessel more blankness